Young Baptists in Convention.

The first national convention of the young people's societies of different Baptist churches in the country was called to order by the Rev. Dr. Perrin at the Second Baptist Church in Chicago yesterday morning, over 1,000 delegates being present. The object of the convention is to form a permanent organization of the young people in the Baptist church throughout the entire country for the purpose of strengthening the church work, the better teaching of Baptist doctrine and history and to further the home, foreign and domestic mission

War in the Caroline Islands.

The steamer Australia, which arrived at Sa Francisco from Honolulu yesterday afternoon, brought news of the arrival of the American missionary barkentine Morning Star at that place after a cruise of a year. Two calls were made at Ponape, Caroline Islands. On the first visit Spanish soldiers and natives were found engaged in warfare. At one battle the Spanish mustered 1,200 men against 300 natives, but were defeated, in spite of the great odds, with heavy loss. At the second visit of the Morning Star the natives were found at peace.

A state banquet was given in St. George's Hall in London last evening. The guests sat at a table 150 feet long, upon which were displayed gold candelabras and the whole of the royal plate, valued at £1,800,000. Besides a full Salisbury, Lord Kimberley, Count Von Hatz-feldt, the Russian ambassador; Lord Harting-ton, the Duke and Duchess of Portland and ton, the Duke and Duchess of Portland and Baron Von Bieberstein, the German foreign secretary. At the state banquot only two toasts were drunk—one to the health of the emperor and empress, and the other to the health of the queen. Over 190 guests were present. The hall was illuminated with 300 candles. The floral decorations were beautiful. The gold service was ornamented solely with white flowers. The Prince of Wales and the empress sat opposite the queen and the em-peror, the others seating right and left in the

The kaiser's visit to England has been attended by deluges inside and out at Windsor. that they were not on good terms. A funny contrast was presented on Monday in front of Windsor Castle when two life guardsmen, alwindsor Castle when two life guardsmen, al-most giants in height and of build in propor-tion, stood at a respectful present, while the siender kaiser and the rather short and stout prince subjected them to a critical examination for the benefit of the kaiser. A party of spec-tators could not suppress a laugh, whereupon the two royalties hastily retired within the castle.

Officers made a raid on a camp of tramps in roods near Lititz, Pa., and succeeded in capturing fifteen of the band. Chickens, beef and provisions of all kinds were lying about in proon, giving every evid nce that the marauders were living on the fat of the land. This gang have been preying on that section of the county for some months and numerous rob-beries are attributed to them. Their plunder was generally concealed in the Lebanon hills until a favorable opportunity offered for send-ing it to Philadelphia, where it was readily dis-posed of. Prof. Samuel Boyer, the organist at several churches in the eastern portion of Berks county. Pa., and a veteran music teacher, has just celebrated his eighty-first birthday anniversary. He has officiated as organist under eighty-six ministers, forty-five of whom are dead. During his long career he has listened to 2,000 sermons and attended 4.000 funerals. Prof. Boyer was born in 1810, began to play the violin at thirteen years of age, and then traveled over the entire seatern portion of the state, playing the first violin in an orchestra. He is still engaged in teaching music.

A CRAZY MAN'S ACT.

There was great excitement in the little vil eath of the late Hannibal Hamlin. Gen. F. D. of an unknown man, who is evidently a raving secretary. A committee composed of Gen. Elli sSpeer, J. W. cane. The sea was tremendous. Waves lashed over the decks, sweeping every loose article overboard. The cargo shifted twice in the midst of the storm and the ship listed amid the cries of frightened passengers. A cattle man named Gracie had a leg crushed to pulp, the second engineer was severely bruised and minor casualties occurred. A heavy sea struck the laboring ship, forcing open a port in the after hold. Hundreds of gallons of water rushed into the hold, where was stored all the passengers' baggage. All hands were called on deck and a successful effort made to stop the rush of the water. The crew went into the hold and some of them stood up to their necks in the water and for twelve hours were bailing out before the floor became visible. All luggage suffered. Boxes were smashed to splinters and contents ruined. Nearly all the emigrants came ashore without a stitch of clothing they thing. The intermediate and many of the salono passengers likewise suffered. The company is considering whether it will compensate the sufferers, some of whom threaten legal action. The hurricane lasted three days.

Dancing at the Age of Eighty-Four.

At Klapperthal Park, Reading, Pa., yesterday occurred a reunion of the dancing classes of Prof. Frank Stouch, and it was a somewhat remarkable affair. Prof. Stouch is eighty-four years of age. He has been engaged in teaching dancing for upward of sixty years and is still actively pursuing that profession. There ing dancing for upward of sixty years and is still actively pursuing that profession. There were several thousand people present during the afternoon and evening, and among them were pupils ranging through three generations, from the little tot of five or six years to the gray-haired grandfather and grandmother. For the delectation of his guests the aged professor, both in the afternoon and evening, danced a hornpipe and the highland fling, and he did it with a friskiness and lightness of step that no one of the thousands of young people present could emulate.

The explosion of a kerosene stove at the house of William Addis on Orange street, Plainfield, N. J., yesterday barely escaped burning Mrs. Addis to death and destroying the house. Mrs. Addis had turned down the wicks of the stove and was about to blow out the flame when stove and was about to blow out the flame when the explosion occurred. The blazing oil was scattered everywhere and in a twinkling Mrs. Addis' garments were aflame. Her ten-year-old son, William Addis, jr., who was playing in the yard, grabbed up a mat from the floor and wrapped it about her, quickly extinguishing the flames. The carpet and some of the furni-ture in the room were destroyed before the flames, which had communicated to them, were put out.

She Lived Alone on $3 a Week, With a Doll for Her Sole Companion.

A remarkable case of insanity was reported a few days ago to the Society for the Organization of Charity of Rechester, N. Y., according to a special dispatch to the New York World.

The insane person is the daughter of respectable and once well-to-do parents. A few years ago she held a public situation in this city and was able to previde for herown wants. Her mind finally gave way and her insanity took the form of melancholia. Her mother died in an insane asylum and she was left entirely alone in the old homestead. Three years ago she began to do for herself. She died in an insane asylum and she was left entirely alone in the old homestead. Three years ago she began to do for herself. She rented all the rooms in the house except one in which she lived to Italians, and it was in this room the Charity Society recently found her. She was removed thence to the state hospital for the insane.

A reporter visited the house and found the room as the late occupant had left it. It is not the more than ten feet square. It contained a square piano, a couch on which was an old feather mattress, seven upholstered chairs and a square piano, a couch on which was an old feather mattress, seven upholstered chairs and a little store with the legs resting on books. In one of the chairs was a large doll, richly dressed. The floor was strewn with books and in one corner was a set of doll dishes, which the young woman used at her daily meals. Everything in the room betokened that the late occupant had at one time lived in comfortable circumstances. All the furniture in the room was scarcely large enough for two persons to move in without jostling one another.

The reporter learned that the young woman owned the house and lived in comfortable circumstances. All the furniture in the room was scarcely large enough for two persons to move in without jostling one another.
